

At Rushey Mead Academy we are always looking at ways we can further support your child with their academic growth. Homework has been an area that the school has identified for improvement and following research we have been able to develop a homework timetable for each year group, as advised by the DFE. The timetable will include:

- When homework in each subject will be set
- When homework in each subject will be due
- Approximately how long it will take to complete.

Research tells us that providing students and families with this homework timetable will allow for effective study routines to be created as well as improve student mental health and wellbeing as they can see in advance their homework workload on from each day and plan their subsequent time accordingly.

Your child is in year 11 and their homework timetable from now will be as below.

Year 11
Subject	Day Set	Day Due	Time needed to complete (approx)
Maths	Tuesday	Tuesday	90 mins
Geography	Monday	Monday	30 minutes
MFL	1-2 new word sets given weekly	Weekly	60 mins (2 x 30 mins)
English	Friday	Friday	90 mins
Double Science	Tuesday and Thursday	Tuesday and Thursday	90 mins
Triple Science	Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday	Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday	180 mins
Computer Science	11S – Monday 11D – Wednesday	11S – Monday 11D – Wednesday	60 mins
RE	Monday, Tuesday or Thursday	Monday, Tuesday or Thursday	60 mins
History	Option S = Tuesday Option D = Wednesday	Option S = Tuesday Option D = Wednesday	60 minutes
Art	Every week	The following week	120 minutes
PE (Exam group)	First lesson of the week	The following week	60 minutes

This timetable will continue weekly (regardless of week A or week B).

With students now having a consistent weekly homework pattern, it will allow us to provide greater support for your child. We will be able to provide example timetables to help them study at home and provide tips and advice to help them work more effectively on their homework.

We ask that you support your child by having conversations at home with them about the homework timetable and how they are getting on with the completion of the homework. You can also support your child by viewing the study skills videos we have on the Rushey Mead Academy YouTube page. Please see the link below.

This will help your child to create an effective homework timetable that will support them with organisation and time management. By creating and following a homework timetable, your child can avoid missing deadlines, avoid consequence points and avoid cramming homework in at the last minute.

We have also developed a new, research informed, system to support students who don't complete their homework.

Every time your child misses a homework deadline, they will receive a Homework consequence (1 negative point) that you will be informed of (similarly to the current system). However, they will no longer receive a C2 or C3 should they fail to complete the homework following second and third deadlines. Instead, they will be continually issued with a Homework consequence. This is because detentions for homework are ineffective for the following reasons:

- The student needs to complete the Rushey Way, meaning they still don't complete the homework and can find themselves in a cycle of detentions for one piece of homework.
- Students develop a negative attitude to homework as they are regularly punished for it, making them less likely to engage with homework in the future.

With the new system, if they accumulate a number of points that causes concern in one week, they will be required to attend a homework support club on Friday after school until 4pm, the following week. A member of staff and homework ambassadors will be at hand to support them and help them complete the homework. If your child is required to attend homework support club, you will be sent communication from school. If your child fails to attend the homework support club, they will lose their social time the following day.

At Rushey Mead Academy we recognise the importance of homework as a way to embed the learning in lessons and help students to develop effective study skills that will support them as they approach their exams. Therefore, any student who is not completing homework is missing out on the essential benefits homework provides and needs support and guidance that homework support club can offer.
